Tony Mead The fact is that I have this as a forwarded email- unaltered - in its original form

Bridget Norris I already emailed Leslie and Apologized to her for excess amount of emails she had been receiving from these shills. As I said in the first post. I'm done talking about this hat shit. I can only take this lady's word anymore anyway. So I'm on to the next project. Why do we even talk about Keith Johnson anymore? He is a lying crock of shit.

Kerensa Juniper Gwir Shelley--I pay attention because the lies from the PR firms sometimes tell me more than a thousand repetitions of reading a final report document.

Shannon Winters In my opinion this shouldn't be an issue and no way in hell should dip shits emails be considered, I mean really?? He has no credibility, this is a non issue in my view and another second shouldn't be wasted. The work of shill is completely being played out as we speak.

1 hr · Like · 2

Bridget Norris Kerensa, I have nothing to say to you other than how dare you even bring this shit up again. Did we not drop it long ago? Those bastards are lying.

That's not even how you spell my name..... I'm surprised people believe this shit

AJ Drew I will say it again. Do NOT post over on the stooges page. That's what they want. Ignore them. They are irrelevant. They are begging you to post over there. They get tired of talking to the same 2-3 people. They NEED us. Not the other way around. Sometimes you guys make me wanna pull my hair out. They are a diversion. Tune them out. Stay focused on OUR team.

Kerensa Juniper Gwir I am the first one to suggest Keith may be fabricating this. I'd have thought you'd want to know, and I think we ought to face it and deal with it.

1 hr · Like

Shelly D Archer the best way to deal with a troll is to IGNORE it..

1 hr · Like · 2

Kerensa Juniper Gwir You guys need to not be so afraid of "the others." If this is fake, where is it fake, and why? This is important.

1 hr · Like

Kerensa Juniper Gwir You do realize that what Keith has done is legally actionable, don't you? If he's faked it?

1 hr · Like · 2

Kerensa Juniper Gwir FlexFit can literally sue him for publishing false information about the company, which included Photoshopping-or-whatever of an email from a NAMED employee. Named and identified by full email address.

1 hr · Like · 2

Shannon Winters Exactly Shelly D Archer, Bridget, don't say I didn't warn you! Didn't we just have this conversation? I vote to delete this thread and not give them another second.

1 hr · Like · 2

Lois Endress Dial Get real, its not about fear. All you are doing is giving him attention and taking the focus off where it should be, you making him relevant and hes NOT relevant.

1 hr · Like · 3

Kerensa Juniper Gwir I don't think it should be ignored, I think it should be pursued. How on earth you guys want to shy away from a clear case of criminal fraud is beyond me. Keith has named himself as a known author. His actual identity, and the identity of the employee and company he's allegedly, fraudulently, faking, are known.

1 hr · Like · 1

Shannon Winters Don't try and cover up your intentions now Kerensa....you knew exactly what would happen if you came her and stirred this pot. That shit isn't welcome.

Shelly D Archer It would be up to flexfit then to pursue legal action

1 hr · Like · 2

Bridget Norris I just find it funny that every point of their email that's different than mine is all about the numbers on the hat and the production year. If mine was fake, don't you think that there would be more things wrong with the email, other than exactly the things they insisted were wrong with it.

1 hr · Like · 2

Kerensa Juniper Gwir You can't have someone claiming to have an "actual copy" of the email, using ALL names, and not face it. If he's faked an email, that is major shit.

1 hr · Like · 2

Shannon Winters You don't have to explain Bridget, we know.

1 hr · Like · 1

Shannon Winters You were neutral and now this? Hmmmm sounds suspicious if you ask me.

1 hr · Like · 1

Lois Endress Dial I don't care what he claims to be one way or another, it doesn't matter. What should've been done is that Bridget should've been approached privately. This may be a 'closed' forum but you can bet everything that's being said here is being published or copied to someone.. so very bad form as all I can say..

1 hr · Like · 2

Kerensa Juniper Gwir I don't get it—you guys should be overjoyed. This is a clear case of fraud, by ALL legal definitions. This is actionable. One of the few actionable things I've ever seen. I have no fucking clue who's telling the truth, but I do think Keith's working for a PR firm. If his PR firm is committing fraud, that is HUGE. I am neutral on the hat date meaning I have focused on other things for the most part and don't feel informed enough to have an opinion on the whole sweatband minutia yet.

1 hr · Like

Kerensa Juniper Gwir But I totally agree that massive cases often turn on minutia. It's just not my area of knowledge, so I've not really gotten into it yet.

1 hr · Like

Kerensa Juniper Gwir Wow. You guys are unbelievable. This is a GIFT, if in fact Keith Photoshopped a company email from FlexFit, citing a specific FlexFit employee. A gift.

1 hr · Like

Bridget Norris Kerensa. I am just upset that people keep bringing this up. I have nothing to hide. I sent the actual copy to Tony Mead and Erik Pearson. I changed nothing. I'm upset that personal information has been released. They changed the info but I'm sure people can figure out my email if they tried hard enough. I just feel sick that this is even an issue. I made the youtube video to tell everyone that what Leslie chose to tell me was only based on her words. She didn't attach any physical evidence, but i do believe what she said is very true!!!! They lied and faked this shit. I feel bad that Leslie is caught in the middle. I feel bad that I even have to explain myself

1 hr · Like · 4

Lois Endress Dial How do we know who anyone works for, he says he works for a major PR firm? As I said he could be anyone or anything for that matter and live anywhere You going to take his word for it? All about creating a facade.

1 hr · Like · 2

Kerensa Juniper Gwir I am not absolutely positive, but strongly suspect it is illegal to publish a screenshot of 1) a company letterhead and 2) specific employee's full email/identifier and 3) altered text from a supposed communication. Keith is a hothead, and if he's done this in a rage (did you see him spitting at me earlier today??) that's a MAJOR slip-up. I have said for two years that someone would eventually make a serious misstep, and this may be one of those missteps.

1 hr · Like · 2

Deborah Thornton I cant believe this but I agree with Kerensa ... she's right... let's fight this out in the open... what is there to hide ?

59 mins · Edited · Like · 1

Kerensa Juniper Gwir Bridget Norris - I think you have grounds for action, yourself. It's not just companies that can claim damages for fraud. If you feel you have been harmed by Keith's post, you may actually be able to pursue him legally (or join in a suit with FlexFit).

59 mins · Like · 3

Deborah Thornton I despise those cockroaches... none more than that obnoxious KJo.

58 mins · Like · 1

Shelly D Archer flexfit probably wants all this fo go away! probably not interested in suing

58 mins · Like · 3

Kerensa Juniper Gwir I'm sure FlexFit has a department who could deal with a suit one handed and blindfolded and come away with a nice little sum.

57 mins · Like

Lois Endress Dial You are asking Bridget to file a lawsuit? What cause of action? How was she harmed? Who is going to put up the cash to pay the filing fees? The fees for service of process? The litigation and the discovery? And Shelly is right, Flexfit would not want their name connected with an action over something like this, what are their damages? How much ?

56 mins · Like · 3

Kerensa Juniper Gwir I didn't ask Bridge to file a suit. I said she probably has grounds.

56 mins · Like

Bridget Norris I have already contacted the president of flex fit, not the VP for disclosing my personal information to random people. Leslie's email can always be looked up...that's not against the law. I don't give a shit about this email anymore. I care that this email was fabricated enough that clearly the shills have my correct email address. others are likely to figure it out. You can not disclose personal information like that.

55 mins · Like · 4

Shannon Winters Keep feeding in to this bullshit....I've heard enough garbage. I guarantee this is going to show up on another site. I've said my piece and refuse to continue this conversation. Good luck Bridget, you know where to vent if you need to!

55 mins · Like · 3

Kerensa Juniper Gwir The thing about a suit is that a lot of information then becomes available to lawyers that otherwise would remain murkily sealed. So yes--if we're serious about getting some information, a suit would be good, at some point.

54 mins · Like

Lois Endress Dial good heavens..

54 mins · Like · 4

Kerensa Juniper Gwir Yes Bridget Norris - disclosing confidential information is often actionable.

53 mins · Like · 3

Kerensa Juniper Gwir AFAIK Keith Johnson is his real name.

52 mins · Like · 1

Kerensa Juniper Gwir Bridget Norris had the good sense to blot out the identifying information; KJ not so much.

52 mins · Like · 2

Kerensa Juniper Gwir It's not that I think Leslie's company email is private--it's clearly not. The actionable part is 1) revealing Bridget's personal email (possibly actionable) and 2) fraudulently altering a communication from a company/employee (definitely actionable)

51 mins · Like

Kerensa Juniper Gwir However, if in fact KJ got Bridget's email from FlexFit (how did he? but anyway) then I suppose it's on FlexFit for revealing it in the first place. But the fraudulent altering still stands.

50 mins · Like · 1

Bridget Norris Considering every company has a privacy act. But apparently they didn't care when sending this to those bastards. Glad it's fabricated enough that the world doesn't have it.... but the skills having it is much much worse than the world having it.

I'm done on this subject

47 mins · Like

Kerensa Juniper Gwir Hope Smith Polk I agree--none of us are here because we're shrinking violets. If KJ photoshopped that email it is HUGE. Hell, I could probably get a lawyer on it--but it would be a lot better coming from the person it affects the most. I really think FlexFit will step in though, because a major company issue is being addressed--whether or not there is identifying information on the band or whatever.

46 mins · Like · 2

Bridget Norris I'm not angry at anyone. I'm angry that flex fit likely didn't edit my personal information before sending it to shills. That's against the law..... I'm glad the dumbasses changed it before posting it. But it's likely someone could still figure it out.

45 mins · Like · 2

Kerensa Juniper Gwir No cat fight--the question is vital: does the FlexFit band have, or not have, an identifying marker as to season/year of production? The entire Sandy Hook case could hang on this if it does, which was the whole point of the hat thing to begin with.

45 mins · Like · 2

Bridget Norris That's what I'm upset about. I don't care that they changed the email. I'm mad that clearly the info on my information was real. Unless they fabricated my email address and changed my name before sending it to them, it's likely that KJ did it, more than flexfit would

42 mins · Like

Kerensa Juniper Gwir Wait--they did or didn't edit your personal info?

37 mins · Like

Kerensa Juniper Gwir I'm kind of surprised they'd forward it to a third party. I'd understand forwarding the question and information it contained, but I don't understand them forwarding the email address, unless they were in a hurry and just not thinking straight.

34 mins · Edited · Like

Bridget Norris They did..... my personal info is edited. Bridgette O. My name is Bridget Norris and verified through fb. So how the hell can that be?? I don't know who edited it though. Flex fit before sending to shills, or KJ after he the damn email. Either way, it's likely flexfit didn't change it and gave them my real info

34 mins · Like

Christy Hudson I believe it's altered. Why would they have any reason to forward this to him? Why and how could it be done so quickly when it took Bridget forever to get a response? I just don't believe they would do such a thing.
